Dear comrades,

On behalf of the communists of Greece accept our warm greetings to the events organized by Shiso-Undo in honour of the 104th anniversary of the Great October Socialist Revolution.

The radiance of the victory of the proletariat of Russia, under the leadership of Lenin and the Bolshevik Party, as well as of the construction of the first workers' state in the world, today shines even further.

In the era of tremendous scientific and technological achievements, of robotics and artificial intelligence, of the rapid growth of productive forces providing the people with the possibility to live much better based on the contemporary needs, the working class and the peoples of the world are continuously faced with new sufferings, such as unemployment and insecurity for the future, exhausting working hours, non-existent high-level health services—even in the midst of a pandemic that has led to millions of victims—, the lack of necessary measures to protect people's lives from natural phenomena and disasters, and the destruction of the natural environment.

At the same time, the contradictions between powerful imperialist alliances and the bourgeois classes for capitalist recovery, such as between the USA and China for the supremacy in international capitalist economy, pose risks for the peoples and raise the possibility of military confrontations, even generalized imperialist wars.

The cause for the peoples' suffering is the fact that in the capitalist mode of production the achievements of human labour become a tool for the profitability of business groups. This objective is served by the bourgeois governments of all hues: new-liberal, social democrat, or allegedly left-wing ones.

Everything points to the need to overthrow capitalism, to replace it with a higher social-economic system, i.e. socialism-communism, where the social ownership over the means of production, workers' power, and the central scientific planning of the economy focused on popular needs can guarantee people's prosperity, the harmonious coexistence between man and the natural environment, the peace and progress of all humankind.

Through the study of the revolutionary labour movement in each country and internationally, we can draw the necessary conclusions both by the victories and successes as well as the defeats and failures in order to be able to respond to the impasses created by capitalism, whose days are numbered, showing the supremacy of socialism-communism, without various erroneous choices made during the socialist construction. Without any embellishments, we promote the remarkable achievements of the workers in the USSR and the socialist countries, which also had an impact on capitalist countries, in combination with the intensification of class struggle.

This activity constitutes a great asset in our daily struggle against the anti-popular governments and imperialist alliances, for the establishment of the social alliance of the working class and the popular urban and rural strata, which, through its struggle, will form the preconditions for a world without exploitation of man by man.

Furthermore, such an effort is an irreplaceable weapon in the hands of the labour movement, it strengthens the joint struggle of the workers and internationalist solidarity, and can prepare the ground to successfully wage the struggle against capitalism, the monopolies, and their governments.

In solidarity,
